Blog

Digital marketing course has been one of the greatest courses regards to the learning and expanding our knowledge towards the marketing digitally. It also covers the financial era for the freshers because there are a lot of new opportunities and jobs, hence, to raise the standard of living. It is believed that Indian government is making India digital, as more and more use of digital facilities is to be happened to ease the work life, social life and minimize the efforts of the government as well as the citizens of country.
Therefore along with many recruitments, government is putting efforts towards the hiring of best digital marketers in digital sector. Such as -
1) Manager Digital Marketing - Agriculture/ International Banking.
2) Management, Marketing Strategy, Cross Selling.
3) Associate Professor - RF Digital Co-design.
4) Assistant Professor-Internet
5) Digital Information & Society
6) Deputy General Manager (digital Education System)
7) Assistant Professor (Grade I)-Digital Media & Design
8) Assistant Professor (Grade I)-RF Digital Co-Design
9) Executive with BSE Institute Ltd.
10) Generation, SEO, search engine optimization.
11) Manager (servicing - Digital Initiatives) - Agriculture/ International
12) Chief Digital Officer (Vacancy-1)
13) Assistant Professor (Grade-II) - Digital Circuits

Etc....

DIGITAL MARKETING GOVERNMENT JOBS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Digital Marketing is very beneficial for the housewives as-

1) They do not need to leave the house

You can do the job from home, so you don't have to go anywhere. Its easy and convenient.

2) Less investment, High profit.

You may invest a little amount and get more profit out of the investment

3) Availability.

In this case, when you are not free, having work to do or a hobby to pursue. It wouldn’t be easy for you to make time out for work. If you do the digital marketing job, you can do the job as per convenience.

For example, if you want to write a blog or do projects, then you can write whenever you have time. .

4) Independent.

No pressure of bosses or rules to follow, given by higher authorities. You can do the job as you want.

5) Modern

Its Trendy in nature. If not more, it will stay on the latest trend in future.

6) Freelancing Era

Do projects for others and earn money. It as well expand your horizon of knowledge.

7) Easy to grasp.

You don't need many technical hardwares to learn it. All you need is a working laptop/computer/phone infact and running internet and you are ready to go.

Along with many benefits by digital marketing you can do:-

Free lancing source.
Become a blogger.
Become an owner.

Digital Marketing government job recruitments for housewives-

1) Digital Marketing Specialist For social welfare.

2) Organizing government websites.

3) Education counsellor for digital marketing institute- You may educate people digitally.

4) Social media Executive- Government hires many SME's Specialistng social media isn't a easy task. Its demand is high.

5) SEO Manager- To raise the rank of the site as per scheduled by the government.

6) Online advertising jobs for house wives/ retired person- Advertising management for the government organizations.

And such.

Short story

For Most of us, Night arrives with the disownment of bliss and dwelling on Self loathing begins. Confrontation to the dark part of our soul, we forbid to feed the entire day.

It's three o three in the morning and my ponderous heart is about to cease, as I begin to inscribe the tale of the blue.

I am not just in the sky anymore.

I am in the paintings and photographs, hanging on your walls, scattered and broken with just a fall. I am in the crayon of that 3 years old baby and I am in every artist's hobby. I am In the threads, i am in the kites. I am in the eyes that caught your lies.

I am blue.

The creation who got abandoned by its own creators. The primary colour along with my fellow, red and yellow.

The sole purpose of my existance was to enrich, everything I see, everything I touch and everything that touches me. While summoning, they named me Shade. Some of them energies even named me Azure. People who know me call me Zeth. People who don't, call me Blue!

Billions of years ago I couldn't imagine I would write something in this piece of paper with the ink of my own atoms, Drizzling them all over this tearable thing which can hold so many secrets, more secrets than any living being ever could.

Before I start elobrating, I may let you know it would be difficult to believe what I am going to tell you. Specially if you believe there is a superior power who keeps it's eye around to protect us. Some even call it god. I am not telling you, there is no god, rather I can assure you there is. I am just telling you, what you think is the truth, is just the repel effect. One fallacious repel causing the entire system to shake. One lie spread everwhere, inflicting upon one another.

It started centuries ago when I was created by the superior forces with the help of five elements and a numinous source code. Certain feelings were imposed in me and certain were exorcised. Cold, calm, collectiveness, joy and sorrow all at once, all together, all at the same time to be felt. That's why once triggered I could feel everything in multiple more ways than anybody is capable of. I could feel stronger, I could tolerate better. I could channel through the mind of others, therefore once opposed well, i also could be weaker than the rest of the beings. Just like i am right now.

See, i am blue, I was suppose to be the happiest and the coldest, the liveliest and the most depressed colour among all other hues. I could absorb my atoms out of any object, I could fill them with the colour as I was. I could travel through the light, I could swim inside the oceans without worrying about to breath. I could walk on clouds as I could live in the sky. I could teleport through the medium of my self being, as I could emit to any place in the entire universe and cosmos, once where blue's existance thrivingly established. Consequently I was forbidden in quite many places in the galaxies of galaxies.

I could do most things except few.

"Nobody should know who you are and nobody should know what you are capable of." First rule in the rule book with the thousand more fucking rules, applied once stepped out of the origin.

Why i was even created if i was going to follow the dense rules?!

So as it goes, once suggested by yellow, i heard well about earth. Sphere with the species i never knew existed. It was intriguing. Enough intriguing to make me teleport my way here. As the most fucked up planet, which once was the most beautiful in my eyes. More of my colour aquantancies existed to this place and hence I joined. My existance was pre-established due to x holy reasons before i even emit here. With the help of some expertise i learned to shift my sheer wafer like molecules as i wished. I turned into one of the humans before i started living among them.

And that is where everything horrible demanded itself to be happened.

Before this my life was a wheel on the path, straight pace, smooth ways and everything subtle. After twenty years of living among the humans, I learned every aspect of their lives, different cultures, different languages. I Explored different regions and saw different seasons. I chose to be a good one, since I could heal people by absorbing sorrow out of their puzzled Brain, just like I could load it with gloom.

The world was my home. On the night of my 20th anniversary of being on the planet, I decided to go to a random party and enjoy regards to the small gesture of self celebration.

That is where I saw her.

Wearing a blue gown she was coming down stairs. As she hit her floor on the ground an inevitable breeze hit my face. I didn't know what happened to me but it felt good. As much as long i have lived with humans, they say, the most special bond you can ever have with someone, is the one you already have before you even know them. First sight something. I couldn't even say I had a past life where we might have met before, to begin with. It had never happened before. "Do I look good in blue!" Alluring Words escaped from between her parted lips when she communicated with one of her aquantancies. I sighed humourously as hearing her statement was ironic to me. She turned around and headed towards me. "Uhm? Why are you Laughing? Who are you and why are you in my party?" With so many questions she had me dazed. Seconds later her friends surrounded me with their big arms and strong punches after finding out I was just a stranger, who wasn't even invited. They threw me out of the house as I fell on the ground. Stumbling in the dark I got up as I slowly moved forward. A soft touch landed on my shoulder as I instantly looked back with curiosity all over my face. It was her. She came to apologize for her behavior. Breaking through the rules of my universe, she had a way to attach here self with my Azure soul like nobody ever had. After couple of hours of intense converse, we ran away from the party and spent that night together. Persuing just to spend the next year with each other.

On the occasion of my 21st anniversary at this place and my first with her, we decided to go on a date. Taking her soft hand mingled around mine, and holding back of her neck with my other, i pulled her closer. Kissing her soft lips, I made a commitment to never leave her. After the date we decided to spend the night on the farmhouse near the town side. That's when she decide to ask me to take a short cut. Me being a lover who can't deny whatever she asks for, I took the shortcut. I took the wrong turn. I did what I shouldn't have. I became the reason behind the tears oozing out of my eyes while writing this right now.

As soon as I turned the car we saw an unconcious body laying their on the concrete. Being unware of the cruelty of the world I opened the door to help the stranger on the path. She held me by my arm and stopped me to go out as it was dark and quiet. I told her i am going to be alright and getting out of the car I moved towards the body. As I bent down and pulled up the wrist of the unknown to check his nerve, i was hit by a heavy object on back of my head. I fell on the ground and struggled to stand. Somehow after managing to look behind, i ran shakingly towards the car to protect her. I punched the guy as One of them held me from the behind and another hit me with metal bat on my face. I fell on the ground, and she opened the door and ran towards me. The guy I punched stood behind and shot her. She fell on my arms as the blood was on my hands. I managed to hold her in order to heal her. Her wound started to heal.

I asked her to stay with me when suddenly wound stopped healing. Everything was deceased for the moment and So was she. With open eyes and on my arms, she rested there, motionless, cold and blue. Her blood glided on my hands as tears started dripping out of my eyes and my throat went dry. I screamed out loud and my eyes turned blue. Seeing the mystical view thugs started running away. Turning her body into the blue mystic crystal, I sent her to the origin through the chromatic potal.

There was not enough blood on my hand that night. Not yet. Therefore Ounce of moments ahead, i transmitted through the blue paint to the blue posters to the blue button on the watches to the blue clothes of the killers. I attracted all the blue paint in the surrounded premises and poured it onto them, trapping it in a shape of a fire balloon. Suffocating them in it for couple minutes, i loaded their mind with the overflowing deadliest thoughts before they begged for mercy. Moving towards, i filled their body with the nitrogen and burst their each and every artery, Into the blue.

I went back to pick her body and took her to the deities. I begged for her life to be granted when they enlightened me how it could be possible except nobody would help me revive her back, as I broke the prior rule of keeping my existance a secret by revealing it to humans. How I was an abomination on my kind and how they were ashamed of me.

Getting rid of contrition might be the only way to bring her back and ever since, i only yearn to complete my remorse cycle. Making everything right. Punishing the guilty at all costs and be in this vicious mandane prison rather, I have no other choice than not to be in.

Short story

Dilemma was in choosing whether to think with the heart or the head. Picking one means halting the other. If I go in favour of the wit? I will be the ruthless and cruel. If i choose the heart? I will be the fool and the callow.

So I will just borrow somebody else's.

Right in this very moment while patting the delicate head of a Canis lupus, a fond specially usually knows as dogs, I could understand the royal loyalty they seem to be famous for. I could feel the love towards the beloved and the rage towards the fouls.

It wasn't the first time an animal seemed to be lured towards me. I had this undefined aura which attracted them forward and this mystic flair to imitate their abilities. Not far ago, just yesterday, how I was able to jump feet and feet, as only because of my palm that fallen upon a rabbit. How I was able to fly from the arrive to the shore, as this bird came in contact with my touch. I seemed to fell in love with every inch of my life, without knowing the secret behind it.

Until.

I figured it out as well.

A journal, my mother has left in the church in hands of the Priest. As he died, he gave me the only legacy that was left behind among with my abilities. The truth hidden in those warm pages. The reason behind why she left me in those stairs of this holy place when I was just 5. The secret behind who I am the way that I am.

❝ Aspire to be the good man, nothing but kind. I love you.❞ Her last words seemed to be spoken, as she tugged the locket around my neck. Clueless as how a 5 year old was suppose to be, I believed she was going for a walk. Ignorant, that the path, was to be walked upon forever.

The 40 pages consisting hand written paragraphs of the journal described how I was an abomination to her royal family, and why she had left me under this godly building made of preachings and chants. Her journey from the seven seas valley to the arms of my douche father. Everything that I wouldn't want to rethink of.

But this locket...❝ I love you mother. Despite of everything.❞ This locket reminds me who I am.

My reserved nature hasn't allowed me to have many people in my life. Just my Church mother and her daughter Anna, as same age as of mine. We fight like how siblings are suppose to, until I end up flying upto the roof. Thanks to my fellow eagle, Rosh.

Everything happened to be working well until the moment big flames caught the church and burned it down to the ground. Fortunately no harm was inflicted upon the living beings yet as much as odd as impossible it seemed; an announcement echoed through out the town.

❝ You can't escape death. It has begun...❞

SHORT STORY

“ The closer they are to me, they realise, the less they know. The nearer they come, the farther i go. ”

R Booker, one of the million names i've been called as, one of the only names i liked, and only one that stays with me more than my conscience does. I could just begin to tell you my story with a deep sigh, however i should believe there must be a happy ending for me, even though i don't believe in it at all. This story is not about magic, you will not believe even if i say it is. So, we will just talk about it later.

Apparently some people get born with talents, curse, gifts, with them, in them or around them. 21 years ago i was born. With nothing, neither in me nor around. Just a soul and a body. Until one of them got stolen as well.

That's how it started. I was two years old and left under a shadow of a big Oak tree, on a dusk filled with noises of wild creatures. Being a Little one laying there on the ground, i could look at the sky hiding behind the dark, broad branches of the tree and birds singing their last note of the day as cold wind hit my feet every second. I could listen the nearby rustling coming from the bushes and the spooky footsteps getting closer to me. It was a man with dark hair and green eyes. He picked me up, patting my delicate head before he kissed my nose. He called me son and carried me to his house. After 15 years of me being born and remained in his shadow, i found out he was not my real father. He was a magician, Walking around in woods just to seek peace and happiness. He picked me up in as much as he had lost one of his two sons and his wife in a car accident. That's how he saw his family in me, that's how i got mine. You would ask How do i remember this? I would say it's my curse, i remember, i do, i know things. He taught me how to vanish a rabbit, how to predict the cards, how to read minds, when to stop and so much more. Magic is what people call it. We? We called it Deception.

Remember when i told you, you wouldn't believe me if i tell you it's about magic? If i was you, i wouldn't too. Unfortunately it was me, on my 18 birthday's night. I got home at 2 in the morning as i entered inside my house and turned around to lock the door. I barely had a chance to lock it when i heard a wild sound from my father's room, like i once heard in the woods. I was pretty sure, a wolf got inside our house. I picked up a knife and steadily started walking towards the room. I staggered a bit before my feet started shaking as i fell on the ground. It was fast, swift, massive and not even close to usual wolves. I saw him digging a hole in my father's chest and ripping off his heart right in front of my sight . Tears started oozing out of my eyes as i ran towards it as my feet started trembling, shoving the knife in it's neck, i tried to shove it deeper in it's thick layer of skin. It took out the knife from it's neck like it didn't hurt even a slight. It picked me up in the middle of the air and bit my shoulder brutally before throwing me out through a window. I stood up and ran as far as my legs could take, not knowing where i was going! As my feet touched the concrete, i was hit by a vehicle as hastily as it could hit me. A person came out of the ferrari, carrying me to the passenger seat of his car, to his house. My heavy eyes couldn't open as i released a last breath of the night and fainted. The room seemed royal, clean,empty and dim. First thing i could see when i regain my consciousness, was a big Stuffed Panda right beside me. I could with no doubt guess it's a room of somebody who loved their life. I woke up replacing attached needles to the drip from my arms tilting my head and pushing my way up, leaning on support of headboard for few moments before the person came inside with a bowl of soup. He told me his name was Chase ; When i met an accident, he rescued me and carried me to the place yet couldn't see a single visible wound. After hearing my story, He told me he believes me, and to get well soon. I didn't know if he meant that i was crazy or he actually believed me. I didn't know where to go, so i stayed, that was my home now.

After a year of me and chase being good friends, two known figures knocked the door of our house. It was my brother, Kalon and Cousin Lexy. Me and Kalon together learnt the deception, although he worked for FBI, we looked almost alike, which was one of the another mystery all along and Lexy was a Student.

From two years from the tragedy, on my 20th birthday, Kalon was throwing a party for me, even tho i was having miserable flashbacks. He invited our cousin Lexy. Seeing her made me feel a bit comfortable, until it happened. She passed a filled shot glass to me. I gulped it, as i tilted my head, she saw my eyes turning into something yellow. Glass fell off her hand as she pulled me out of the bar. It was the night of my first transition. I told her my story before she locked me up in a basement and suffered the whole night listening to my screams and sound of my broken bones. According to the legends, It was a curse of an Egyptian werewolf, a bite will be triggered as soon as person steps out of his teenage reaching his adulthood. With each month, transition got a bit easier. Till the next horrible day.

DECEPTION. It gave me the hint how easily somebody who breaths, can twist the truth. How cunning one can be, if they want to. Even though I was having hard time believing it, Until my 21st birthday. That's when i met her in a bar. My chuffed self sight fixed at the unknown figure as i gawked down from her shiny hair to her thick thighs, moving down to her fairly almost tanned feet. Tight strappy wrap dress wrapped around, like it was just made for her. As i heard very click of Her heels alike rhythm of a soundtrack pop music, i knew i wanted her. She was just a dancer to everybody else, an object. I saw something more than just meet the eyes. I wanted to taste her soul before anything else. Blaming it on Biological nature of humans, the night ended with me into her. Literally deep in her.

After two months she decided to knock at my door, Informing me that she was pregnant with my baby. She fainted right in front of me after enlightening me how strange it seems. I carried her into my home, where she spent next five months. Yet the baby was growing so fast, the delivery happened at the seventh month of her pregnancy, safely and sound. We lost nobody, nothing was broken. Until she decided the baby Kelsey and i are too unnatural to be understood. I was broken. She left telling me that she loved me but i am not good enough for her. Just me and Kelsey were left, therefore i decided to raise her on my own. To get a real job and be settled finally. It's been Kelsey, who was also a werewolf like me, Her friend Ivy and me.

The next day, wearing a formal outfit, i went for a Job interview. On the way i saw a man crossing a road while he was on his phone unaware of the surrounding! With every second a truck was coming near him until being one of the fastest creatures in the world, i jumped off and safe the person while my knee twisted. He waved at his driver to carry me to his car and to the hospital. As they tried to get me up, my twisted knee was healed. He was shocked yet more impressed by the rescue. He introduced himself as Gabriel Winters. The CEO of the company i was going to give my job interview to. He offered me to work in his place. With each achievements I saw a fatherly figure in him and with each loyalty check he saw a son in me, leading him to legally adopt me and me not to denying it. That's when i thought i've got it, finally i can settle and that's when i was wrong.
As per the last incident reaching the current date, this was the most awful one. I got in a fight with few thugs as killing one of them! Anger bursting out through my veins, sweat through my pores, yellow grey orbs, i couldn't take it anymore. I did not want to be a werewolf. I went to the witch, Raelle! Lexi had told me a year back about. She could reverse back the bite, moreover with no surity and many consequences. As the ritual begin, my soul got out of my body, leaving me unconscious! Next day i woke up in a different person, different place, different name, different body. I was not me, i freaked out and drove off to the witch, who told me the consequence of doing the ritual was losing stability of my soul as it floats into the universe! As a matter of fact, i wake up in different bodies occasionally, making the owners, unconscious and consciously exist in them for a short while, leaving behind my identity. My past became my present, & my future is more than just like a mysterious pandora box itself. I can't tell, i can't hide it either. All i can do is, suffer and survive.

So as it goes, It was the kind of misery that couldn't be more displease, Even if the world wanted it to. For sake of My 100th heart ache, and my 101st attempt, I tried to get out of the noxious dome i was trapped in. Stuck in the loop, Ripped and bruised like part of a troop. Moving out of the big city, into the small town, I decided to hold on to life with a new name, in a new home. Until catching up with the time, as well, wasn't just good enough. They say only way out is in, so let it happenin'. I say; Nobody decides my fate, inside is much gorier. So. You. Stay. Away

Short piece

❝ Nothing ever is going to be enough.

Death is inevitable and everything else is inadequate.

Except Love!

What is love? I asked.

Nobody could properly answer ever. Wise Deities even conveyed their thought regards to the term and failed to reach the nearness of the emotion. I laughed at the fellow ones as the fellow ones laughed at me. It was beyond explanations, for each, had it's own.

"Love is the sane in insanity. Sleep in the insomnia. The ones who has it suffer together, the ones who don't suffer alone." Cubid conveyed.

"A wild flame fallen upon, that the victim enjoys the burn. The poison craved to be sipped by just everyone."

"Sometimes it's in a dot of someone and sometimes it isn't felt in those concealed million words. Sometimes it's in the worried eyes, or in lover's masked dreads."

"Even I can't form a mere sentence which enlightens the essence of it, My dear. "

"Despite we live, one may be chasing it, other shall be escaping it."

They paused

"Which one are you going to be?"

My journey to the upper realm has come to an end as I traveled way back to the sphere.

Live they said.. Life, I heard.

What's the point of it without happiness? I asked, to an old lady.

Wrinkled face with a bright smile. Peacefully sitting there on a bench, near a lake. "Life is a series of moments and happiness can't truly be achieved." She spoke softly, and grinned.

"It's those little moments combined together with beloved, where you feel closer to the threads of bliss.

Orbs entangle, stars collide, high horses as we ride.

So live those rather than finding joy in the Superficial facets.

Live in the warm pages of a book, settle down for the smile of the dearests, Cheer at the achievements of whomsoever.

The trick? The trick is to surpass the trend of the trendy world and actually seeking peace with in, knowing nothing lasts forever.

A shattered heart can't be fixed, but yours is just Bent my dear. The hope alone to discern the yellows, will keep pushing you ahead.

Just look at the sky, and feel this blue. Everything you find, is only within you." She pointed towards my heart. " Right there.." ”

Werewolf short piece

Becoming the very thing that was the reason behind your sorrow, doesn't sound as heart wrenching as it actually be.You admire all these fairy tales, dive into those fantasies and sometimes when the myths come to life? You want to end life itself! You have feet to run ahead, far away from home but none of them may enough to escape yourself.

My adopted father was the one who caressed my delicate forehead brushing off the solitary from my existance and when he was sadistically murdered by a wolf, nothing seemed to make sense furthermore. The moment he picked me, I was just two, thrown afar by my own blood from the familiarity, into the woods. So that my flesh shall be crushed between those canines of wolves. Or much worse? Starved to death.

A part of me denies how someone can stoop down this very low for whatever fucked up reasons. Why i was left behind there at the first place. The rest? Couldn't care any fucking less.

Who knew I would become the one I was fed to.

Wolves, wild creatures indeed. Loyal to few, capable of butchering the most. Mundanes seem to have an odd bond towards my kind. They have movies and shows based on our fights, and undenying love toward our packs. Legends and fables stating several different stories but nobody really knows us.

I, however, just contain rage. For the one, responsible for all this absolute chaos.

I will find you.

I will find you and rip you apart!!

Short Piece

❝ I have come too far to lose. ❞

❝ These hands must stop, only once suffering an endless paralysis. Sheldom do my voice cracks as watching my fear anymore, as a man with a fear, which he can't control; not only is weak, but also is toxic to his own being.

To defeat your fear, you shall become the fear.
To end the essence of doubts, you hustle.
To cease the dark, you must turn into, the darkness.

Among million out there, I as well, was the one fearing my own self. My anger. My actions.

All this time i have felt an odd weight upon my chest, for possesing the identity of a Misfit. Maybe, just maybe, I was born to make the changes, and not to become something to be changed. All this time, the compassion must have gotten amid. Therefore the guilt for not acting upon the way i thought it should have been in an ideal situation. However, I also break bones, it is the empathy which makes me different from the obnoxious doings and doers.

"Learn to embrace the way you are." Life and it's chanting words, buzzing from who knows which tape.

This hatred towards the vile, must lead me towards the purpose of my enduring.

But for now, The do's and the don'ts.

Hustle.
Fear.
Darkness. ❞

QUOTES

❝ Didn't have to explore seven seas to figure; some eyes are like the Abernathy pearl. The mirror to the soul. The kind you don't look at, the kind you look into... ❞

❝ First they liked that I was honest, than they despised that I was honest. I prefered being me than to be one of the rests. If it's not my rules and not my choices. If it's not my creation and my chaoses. I dont want it. "

❝ The more you fall the more you learn... The more you learn? The more you numb. With time comes wisdom, as wisdom takes time. Death, gave birth to time, to eat life slowly with it's nine canine.❞

❝ Fire wasn't just around him, it was as well, in his eyes, and every time he decided to change the fate, he did. ❞

❝ A partial truth with ounce of dipped lie; When a poet falls in love with you, you never die.

Complete crooked verse, forbidden lines; Poet falls in love with every art, except a beating heart.❞

❝Your Aloofness is slaying my aroused self, These obsessions are killing me softly. You are the instrument of my destruction, and my only remedy. ❞

❝ Haunted by humans, saved by none. So many interpretations and I have to run. Far, far away from this place where I was born. To find a house which is forsooth a home... ❞

❝ From the crust, rigid and shallow. The deeper you dive in, the mild, and the mellow. A tangled riddle, with no clues. The more you believe you've figured him, the less, in fact, you do..❞

“ Something dark hides within, something untamed. Delightful nights become shady, once we rain... ”

“ Black suited me quite fine. My fellow, my only beloved. When I closed my eyes and stayed in the gloom, black taught me how comforting the dark is.”

“ Claw your sight, strive your way right through me, dig deeper until you feel, the wraith of the ruin. Everything wrong is the rightest right here..and the stories that i wouldn't share. ”

“ The more I refused to get in, the more i stuck deeper. Big universe and we were two lost cupid beetles. ”

“ Too numb to be bothered, too tender not to care. Too tainted in your scent, slow mo in the flare. The lifting harness which saves you, or itself a wrecking ball, This heart does too much, or nothing at all. ”

DIGITAL MARKETING JOBS AND OTHER OPPORTUNITIES FOR HOUSEWIVES

Digital marketing course has been one of the greatest courses regards to the learning and expanding our knowledge towards the marketing digitally. It also covers the financial era for the fresher's because there are a lot of new opportunities and jobs, hence, to raise the standard of living. It is believed that Indian government is making India digital, as more and more use of digital facilities is to be happened to ease the work life, social life and minimize the efforts of the government as well as the citizens of the country.

Therefore along with much recruitment, government is putting efforts towards the hiring/applying of best digital marketers/marketing techniques in digital sector. Such as -.

•Management, Marketing Strategy, Cross Selling, Social.
•Associate Professor - RF Digital Co-design.
•Assistant Professor-Internet
•Digital Information & Society.
•Deputy General Manager (digital Education System)
•Assistant Professor-Digital Media & Design
•Assistant Professor -RF Digital Co-Design
•Executive with BSE Institute Ltd.
•Generation, SEO, search engine optimization.
•Manager (servicing - Digital Initiatives) - Agriculture/ International •Chief Digital Officer.
•Assistant Professor - Digital Circuits

Etc....

DIGITAL MARKETING JOBS ARE HELPFUL FOR HOUSEWIVES AS-

- They don't get time to do the external jobs as they have a household to take care of.
- Housewives with babies and little kids have to give special attention to their offspring, therefore tasks like going to offices and staying outside of the house for long while, isn't what they can afford.
- With generating the government jobs for housewives, it can save housewives all the chaos they have to go through while finding out a specific job keeping the certain time interval in mind, as well as will be beneficial for the government itself.

DIGITAL MARKETING JOBS BENEFITS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Digital Marketing is very beneficial for the housewives as-

•Being a housewife, you do not need to leave the house

You can do the job from home, so you don't have to go anywhere. It's easy and convenient.

• Less risk, high profit.

You may invest a little amount and get more profit out of the investment

• Availability.

In this case, when you are not free, having work to do or a hobby to pursue. It wouldn't be easy for you to make time out for work. If you do the digital marketing job, you can do the job as per convenience.

For example, if you want to write a blog or do projects, then you can write whenever you have time. .

3. Independent.

No pressure of bosses or rules to follow, given by higher authorities. You can do the job as you want.

4. Modernly updated

It's Trendy in nature. If not more, it will stay on the latest trend in future.

5. Freelancing Era

Do projects for others and earn money. It as well expands your horizon of knowledge.

6. Easy to grasp.

You don't need many technical hardwares to learn it. All you need is a working laptop/computer/phone infact and running internet and you are ready to go.

Along with many benefits by digital marketing you can do

-Free lancing on your own.
-Become a blogger.
-Become an SEO Specialist.
-Get pro at Google Adword.

Digital Marketing government job recruitments for housewives-

Education counselor- You may educate people digitally.

Social media Executive- Government hires many SME's as handling social media isn't an easy task. Its demand is high.

SEO Manager- To raise the rank of the site as per government's suggestion.

Female Tele-Callers for tourism industry. -You may be hired as A Tele-Caller/texter where you get to call the potential customers to attract towards your goal.

Online advertising job for house wives/ retired person- Advertising management for the government organizations.

Being a housewife, choosing a course like digital marketing can be very beneficial to you on so many levels. It not only can make you independent but it also can expand your knowledge to the level where you can compete with the top companies just from being home itself. Government as well, is working on this specific era which will conduct and generate more job opportunities in the digital sector. ("Ab banega bharat Digital")